

LOWDEN BATTLE BEGUN IN STATE

Supporters Open Headquarters at Oklahoma City.

PARKINSON IN CHARGE

Lawton Man to Direct Campaign; Offices in the Skirvin Hotel.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 25.—Whether by mere coincidence or premeditated plan the first republican presidential boom headquarters landed in quarters that bear what have been dependent upon which side of the table the gambler stood. The luckiest of numbers—seven—thirteen—Skirvin hotel, is the location of Lowden for president headquarters.

The campaign to convince Oklahoma republicans that Gov. Frank Lowden of Illinois is the logical individual to carry the G. O. P. banner to success next year, will be under the direction of Frank Parkinson of Lawton, one of the known republicans in the state.

According to statements from Lowden headquarters the campaign will be prosecuted upon the most persistent and tactful methods and the supporters of the Illinoisan are confident that the Skirvin state delegation will go to the convention instructed for him.

DRY DECISION WAITS

Supreme Court Decides to Ponder Over Prohibition Legislation Longer.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 25.—From present indications there will be no decision by the supreme court on the appeal involving the ratification by the Oklahoma legislature of the national prohibition amendment before the first of the year. The decision has been expected each week by court attendants and spectators, but each opinion day passes without a decision.

Yesterday inquiry was made regarding the probability of a decision in the near future. The only suggestion came in the form of a reply substantially as follows: "The case is under consideration by the court and probably will be for some time."

Anti-dryers circulated a referendum petition asking that the act of the Oklahoma legislature, ratifying the national amendment be referred to a vote of the people. When the petition was offered to Joe S. Morris, secretary of state, for filing, he refused it, declaring that the act was only the ratification of national legislation and therefore not subject to referendum.

The same question has been passed upon by the supreme courts of the state of Washington and Oregon, but conflicting opinions were given, one court sustaining the position taken by Morris and the other overruling it.

THREE IN FAMILY REAP BENEFITS

Jackson Is Relieved of Indigestion by Tanlac—Gains 12 Pounds.

"Tanlac soon ended my troubles and I gained 12 pounds by taking it," said W. E. Jackson, of 724 North Forty-first street, Birmingham, Ala. "I work at night," he continued, "and eating at unusual hours gave me indigestion. My food would sour in my stomach and I suffered terribly after every meal. I lost weight and became so nervous I couldn't sleep hardly at all. Smoking, too, aggravated my trouble and I had to quit it. I felt all down and out and was miserable all the time. I tried everything I could hear of, but got no better and was just about to give up when I read about Tanlac helping someone having the same trouble that was worrying me."

"I felt better right after starting on it and improved so much that I was able to enjoy my pipe again and get a peaceful sleep. My appetite is now good and I can eat anything I want and I am not nervous and all unpleasant like I was before. I believe I am in better shape today than in seven years. My father, too, was afflicted a whole lot by taking Tanlac. My wife took two bottles and it helped her more than anything she has ever taken. I will never fail to recommend Tanlac to anybody I see suffering from stomach trouble."

OIL MAN NAMED IN SENATE RACE

Roy M. Johnson, Ardmore Republican, Suggested To Beat Gore.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 25.—One of the most interesting bits of political gossip current at the state house projects a new candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator into the field. The lightning rod was hoisted through an editorial in the Shawnee News "by way of suggestion" and proposed the name of Roy M. Johnson, oil operator, prominent Mason and well known resident of Ardmore, as the logical republican to fight it out with the winner of the Ferris-Freeling-Gore contest among the democrats.

The Shawnee News editorial contained the statement that it was without the knowledge or consent of Mr. Johnson that his name was centered in the line. The News is a sturdy democratic paper and the occasion for the "suggestion" had foundation in the meeting at Shawnee of republican leaders in a congressional district conference. State newspapers, many of them of unquestioned democratic policy, look upon the suggestion Mr. Johnson as the republican banner supporter with unqualified favor. He has been a consistent republican in Oklahoma since the days of 1907 and 1908, when he launched The Statesman, a republican weekly, at Ardmore. Fortune smiled upon him during the development of the Healdton oil field, or rather he was one of the original developers of the field, being a member of the discovery company. During the period of his editorship of the Statesman and since, when he has commanded a leading position among the oil men and financiers of the state, he has been a persistent and consistent worker in the republican ranks, asking and expecting nothing for himself and liberal in his support of party activities. At the last general election, when W. H. Johnson, also an Ardmore man and formerly United States district attorney, was a candidate against Senator Owen, R. M. Johnson was one of the most active and effective supporters and backers of the republican nominee.

Lobby frequenters and politicians generally regard the suggestion of Johnson as an excellent "tip" to the republicans. In the event of Gore's nomination over Ferris and Freeling, the number of democrats who would be tempted, and no doubt fall to the support of Johnson could not be estimated except in figures of large proportions.
